CANADA'S GREAT FAIR.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FORMAL OPENING TO-DAY.

What is to be Seen in Machinery Hall—Professor McGregor's Substitutes—Numerous
Special Exhibits — The Prospects.

The noise and bustle of preparation at the Exhibition Park were not so marked yesterday as on the previous day, but a great deal of work was done, and the exhibits will probably be in good shape for the formal opening, which takes place at two o'clock to-day. The agricultural implement hall is well filled. Machinery Hall is full to overflowing, and space had to be refused to some intending exhibitors. The stove building shows a similar state of things. The electric railway was tested, and found to work satisfactorily, and everything looks well for the opening to-day. His Honor the Lieut.-Governor will formally open the Exhibition at 2 p.m. The ceremony will take place in the centre of the Main Building. Hon. A. M. Roas, Ald. Defoe, Mr. H. W. Darling, and a number of the delegates to the Methodist Conference, are expected to be present.

necessary to more than than simply thus attention to their exhibit, but it may be a for the information of any of those who not have seen the ordinary goods of the pany, that these on view are just such in respect as are delivered to patrons every in the year. A gentleman who stood by this notice was being written, and who just returned from England, remarks "Bell & Co.'s exhibit at the Colonial Exhibition is one of the most attractive and at in the Canadian Department, and is constantly surrounded by a crowd of admiring men. It does great credit to the firm."

THE DOMINION STARCH COMPANY

The Dominion Starch Company, of Wille, Ontario, have an excellent and display of their manufactures of starch, cose, and syrup, together with a case of dried work comprising cuffs, collars, etc combining to show the effect produced by use of the materials furnished by them. position is on the ground floor near the tain.

a number of beautifully wrought book-marks on view at the Exhibition. They were worked by an inmate of the London Lunatic Asylum, who styles herself "Lady Lucy Robertson," the material being hair taken from her own head.

The first runaway occurred on the grounds yesterday. A horse attached to a buggy became frightened at a passing engine and bolted east, smashing the buggy. The horse was stopped before any further damage was done.

License Inspectors Hastings, Dexter, and Wilson, together with a number of liquor detectives, made their appearance upon the grounds a few minutes after the great fair was formally opened. They are present to prevent, if possible, any attempts to sell liquor on the grounds.

The Young Men's Christian Association have erected their tent south of the main building, near the wharf gates. A reading-room for the convenience of the public has been kindly provided by the Association.

The traction engines running about the principal drives makes it rather bad for restless horses.

The electric railway is now in operation between the street railway terminus and the grounds.

A triangular dispute arose yesterday about some space in the southern gallery in the main building. It seems that Inspector Hughes, on behalf of the Public School Department, told light in itself, is strong enough to hold two tubs conveniently arranged, so that clothes can be wrung from either tub to the other. These are only a few of the novelties in woodenware, but there are any number of others such as Crescent washboard, butter pats, and all kinds of ware for working butter. Corn brooms in all varieties are shown in another part of the stand, and close by is a great variety of silverbrushes, stove brushes, wash brushes, clothes brushes, horse brushes, and brushes specially adapted for every purpose for which a brush can be used. Close by can also be seen larger woodenware, such as grocers' pickle packages and tubs for a variety of uses. In every article one feature crops out prominently, whether it is a cheap shoe brush or an expensive toilet brush, a clothes pin or a wringer, it is the very best of its kind that can be manufactured.

KERR BROS., WALKERVILLE.

These gentlemen exhibit in Machinery Hall a large and varied collection of their "Weber's Patent Straightway Valves," designed for blow-off valves in sugar or paper mills, breweries, etc., where sediment forms. The firm control the patent for the Dominion. A number of prominent manufacturers have given very strong testimonials in favour of the Weber valve. Among these may be mentioned Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville; Detroit
