INSTECTION OF THE THIRD SECTION BETWEEN

While the work on the first work of the above line has been going on, steadily and surely, the energetic contractor, William Hendric, Eq., has been pushing on the portion which he has the contract to build between Caledonia and Jarvis, with amazing rapidity. By invitation of Mr. Hendrie, Messrs, James Turner, President of the road; M. W. Brown, Secretary; A. H. Askin, Chtef Engineer; W. Wallaco, Superintendent D. MgCulloch, ot the Specta. tor; J. G. Buchanan, of the Evening Times; W. W. Sims, of the Globe ; J. McLean and T. Cooley, of the Mail, and George Wilson, of the New Dominion, drove in carriages yesterday morning to inspect the line as far as six miles beyond Caledonia. At his latter place the party were joined by Mr. J. Killough, Engineer in charge of the work; G. G. Eddington; Manager for Mr. Hendrie; John Scott, ex-Warden of Haldimand; and Major R. A. McKinnon, Reaveof Caledonia.

The drive was a most pleasant one, the weather and roads being all that could be

This place is six miles distant from Caledo-The bridge will have four piers, swill the two hundred and forty-eight feet long and twenty-tive feet high. After remaining here a while, and examining the work on other pertions of the road, McKenzie Creek, three and a quarter miles from Caledonis, was visited. Here a pile bridge, constructed of white oak, is being built. It is two hundred and fifteen feet long, and will be a very substantial structure. The great bridge very substantial structure. over the Grand River at Caledonia was then examined. It will have nine piers of solid masonry, seven of which are already completed, and two abutments of the same, with a total length of 1,100 feet. It is on what is known as the Howe truss principle, and will be 45 feet from the water level. There are five spans, 131 feet each, of Howe truss; four spans, 72 feet, and an overhead bridge of tresseling over Front street. It crosses the river just below McKinnon's mill dam, the piers reating on the solid rook. As we announced some time ago, A. J.

GRAND OVATION.

COSTLY PRESENTATIONS.

As we hinted in yesterday's Sprotator the presentation to W. Wallace, Esq., Superintendent of the Hamilton and Lake Erie Railway and late Traffic Superintendent of the Great Western Railway came off in the large dining hall of the Great Western Railway. The room was tastefully festooned with the British and American Sings entwined and presented a very lively scene, Seats were provided for over one hundred guests, and with the exception of a few were all filled. The tables were laid in two rows extending the whole length of the room and one table across the west end, and the contents were such that the most fastidious epicure could not find fault with thus showing that Messra, Moore & Bio, are quite equal to the task they have undertaken, that of public caterers. To their tredit be it also said that there was no lack of waiters, every guest being promptly supplied with whatever they requested.

The chair was occupied by Joseph Taylor. Esq , Assistant Superintendent G. W. B.; the 1st Vice-President, N. A. Anderson, and il. Webster, Esq. in the 2nd Vice chair. On the right of the chairman we noticed the following guests: W. Wallace, Esq, the guest of the evening; W. K. Muir, General Manager, C. W. R.; Col. McGiverin, Presideut W. G. & B. R.; His Worship Mayor Charlton ; W. Hendrie, Esq , contractor ; A. T. Wood, Esq., President Board of Trade; Major A. K. Askins, Chief Engineer H. & L. E. R.; G. Boack and D. Currie, Esqrs. On his left were seated J. Price, Esq., Treasurer. U. W. R.: James Turner, Esq., President H. & L. E. R.; Dr. Hamilton, Hon. I. Buchanan, Hou. F. N. Blake, U. S. Consul; W., Waterman, Est, London, and M. Peunington, Esq. But some men think they round superintend a railroad without any previous experience, and indulge in citiersms of raill-way management, which if applied t their own business they would think absurd. It is not generally realized that the management of railroads and departments of railroads has become a prountent profession, in which ability can only be acquired by years of training in subordinate unities. Those general superintendents, fantaurers, assistant superintendents, and local superintendents, general superintendents, and local superintendents, general freight agents, and others in charge of departments, are most efficient who entered railroad superintendents of the present time began his career when a youth, and from the occupation of a ficket clerk won his way to his present high position; and it is owing to his perfect familiarly with, the matters of eyery department of railroad manage-reat that he owe? his casey mastery of every detail, and that the company whose fortune he has in charge is so eminently prosperous. Our guest of the evening also began his career as a ficket clerk. It is not very long ago that a "young man from the country" applied at my office for a simation. I asked him what he could do. He replied, "Ob, a "most anything." This seemed pretty confident, so I remarked, merely for lorm's sake, "Have you had any "railroad experience before?" He answered that he had not; he had not been on a railroad before. I then said, "Could you drive a locomotive?" He said he didn't kike such a slushy job, anyhow. I then aked him if he could wash out a boiler. He said he didn't kike such a slushy job, anyhow. I then aked him if he was a telegraph operator. He said he did not know; he care about chucking in cordwood. I asked him if he could wash out a boiler. He said he didn't like such a slushy job, anyhow. I then asked him if he was a telegraph operator. He said he did not know, he thought not just then. I next asked him if he was a stenographic or phonographic writer. This seemed to be wilder him a little, and he finally answered he "didn't care much about that." I asked him if he understood anything about the freight business, sariffs and so on. He said he guessed he didn't—he didn't care good the saked him if he could chop wood, as far as that was concerned, I could not chop wood myself, except in the way of sharpening a pencil. He said he always made his old woman chop the word. I told him we could offer him a place as porter, at about a dollar q day; this caused him to swear a little and put ou style, so I asked him if he would like to be General Superinteadent. This question did not utterly demolish him as I thought it would, and he Was on the point of skying that was the kind of place, when I anxiously informed him that that high position was not years in the collection as not a seed him with examt just them. I asked him why he came that was the kind of place, when I anxiousist informed him that that high position was not vacant just then. I saked him why he came to the office saying he could "do a'most anything," when it appeared he could "a'most do nothin!." "Wall!" he said, "its just like this, I was plowing in the field and it was mighty hot; the sweat running...down my ince magnity quick. I began to think it was a pretty lough way of lying, especially when I got a dollar and fifty centra sky out of it; and just then my old woman moves up to my and says, "Jacob, why don't ye go for a giustion on the railreas!?" Says I, "ypor're right, Mary; and here I am. I told him he had better go leck home, and send Mary. So Jacob left the office a direcombalte man, and the vicem to the general deluzion man, and the victim to the general delusion man, and the victim to the general delusion that any person with common sense is fit to jump into a railroad position. Such a man was absolutely fit for nothing in a railroad. If he had been employed in the most humble services, he must have worked some time before he could earn the money paid him. ACCIDENT FROM A PISTOL.—Yesterday morning, about nine e clock, some boys were playing with a pistol on East. Avenue, when one of them, a lad aged 15 years and named James Hastings, from West Avenue street, was injured by the exploding, by accident, of the firearm. It appears the boy was handing the weapon carelessly, and when the muzzle was pointed towards his month the charge was ignited, and the load of shot was discharged almost into the child's face. Of course the alarm was great, and a waggon was procured and the boy taken to Dr. G.

S. MacKelcan's office. The physician found that on account of the weakness of the charge of powder, only one grain of shot had penetrated the skin, while the others had glanced off the cheek. much blackened with burnt

In his youngerdays he belonged to the Cal-vinistic Methodists of Wales. Of late years he has been a strady member and honored office bearer of the Church of Scotland in this city. Beloved by all who Scotland in this city. Beloved by all who knew him, we are bold to say he never made an enemy. Strongly attached to his own views, he was careful of the opinions of others who might differ from him. He has others who might differ from him. Ite has passed away from earthly scenes, and perhaps the greatest and most truthful sulogy than can be pronounced on him is that he was a good man and a man of prayer, Yesterday morning the car which is at present used as the official one by the President and officers of the above line started from this city along the route of the railway and the route of the railway. this city along the foute of the railway as far as lunit. On the car were Mesers.

Turner, Wallace, Askin and Davey. We-understand that the General Superintendent displayed extraordinary sellishness in the possession of a seat during the trip, owing to his superior knowledge of railways, having selected the position where his head and legs were perfectly safe, while the President was compelled to sit where his upper storey and lower extremities were in jeopardy every moment. The extreme length of the President's lower limbs prevented him from occupying the side and sliowing them to dangle. This was the fault of Nature, however, and not that of the General Superintendent. The President, towards the Superintendent. The President, towards the and of the journey, (after several narrow eaches) concluded to take a back seat, where even if an accident did occur, the results would not be so serious, and all went merry as a marriage bell." These hand-cars on the H. & L. E. Railway are certainly constructed on a dangerous principle. Sericonstructed on a dangerous principle. Seriously speaking: we are informed that the road bed has stroot the winter test exceed With the exception of two very short stretches above the race course, all that is required is a little, ill no up of the ingly well. settling of the Fall work of last year.

GRAND BALL .- On Thursday evening last the Orange Young Britons, Nos. 2 and 9the latter used to be No. 13, but a new numbering has changed it gave a grand balla; St. James Hall, which was beautifully decorated with flags, benners, Lodge emblems, para; hernalia, pictures, etc., giving the half-room a very cozy shid comtortable appear-ance. At min o clock the dancers, is the number of rearly seventy five couples, tered in grand much to the tane of the Protestant Boys" well played by Stair's Quadrilla Band, which furnished the Sausin for the evening. The company thrushed a up in setts, and soon the floor was tilled with animated dancers, as they went through a quadrille. Dancing, with the intervening time for supper, followed to an early bour in the morning, when the party broke up well pleased with all the arrangements. Bleases. Smith and Reigher, the floor managers, were highly successful in their duties. We understand that the Order is flourishing and that it is not unlikely that a new Lodge may be formed at an early day in the city. The bail was one of the most successful of the season.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER. - Last night the Feast of the Passover, yearly celebrated by our Hebrew brethren, began, and was observed by them in the city. All their places of business are closed. From a class-book or business are closed. From a class-book for Jewish youth, we observe that this is the fifteenth day of the mouth Neson, the first month in the year, because in this month the children of Israel were brought out of the land of Egypt. In order, therefore to Zistinguish this month more various fore, to distinguish this month more particu early, it is placed at the head of the months, as it is written in the Holy Bible: "This month shall be to you the first of months; it shall be to you the first of all months of the year." Neson has 30 days, from about March 20th to April 18th. The 14th day is called Erriv Psch, or the day before the Pass. over. All bread, beer or liquors made of grain must be removed from the house, as also all vessels which may have been used The festival continues Presentation.

Last Saturday a deputation from the St. Thomas Church congregation, waited upon Rev. J. P. DuMoulin, Rector, and having read the appended Address, presented him with a three years' insurance policy upon his furniture and a pursu of $250. The following is the ADDRESS 1

To the Rev. J. Philip Du Moulin, M. A. :

The members of the congregation of St-Thomas' Church, having learned with re-gret the loss which you sustained by fire in your house, a short time since, determined lief that your loss should to some extent be repaired. A subscription list was accordingly opened, and as the result we have been deputed to present you with this policy of insurance and purse of money.

In presenting you with this slight token of the interest felt in the temporal welfare of yourself and family, we have been desired to vou of the sincere regard and affection enter-tained towards you by every member of your congregation; and also of the heartfelt antiafaction with which they learned that events have been so ordered under Providence, that they will not be deprived of your services as their paster and teacher.

We pray God that you may long be spared earnestness and faithfulness the pure Cospel of Christ ; and that through your instrumentality many may be brought into His fold; and that every blessing, temporal and spiritual, may attend you, Mrs. DuMoulin, and your children, is the carnest wish and | f on behalf of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. DuMoulin replied briefly, and thanked the congregation for the generous gifts so kindly best-wed. It was very encouraging for him to note the expressions inthe Aldress.

EMERALD BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION.—The lirst annual concert of the E. B. A. of this city promises to be a complete success. A number of talented artistes from a distance have been engaged, and several popular vo-calists of the city have volunteered their Ectivices. The Band of the St. Patrick's So-ciety will also be present. The following is
